

Website name is MyVeganTrainer.com

I am writing only main points according our discussion but if i left some point or you want to add you can tell me.

1)you want to make a website similar to “ <https://www.trainedbyjp.com/> “

User side :- login,ragistration,buy membership plane,diet plane

Social media intregation.

Payment gateway:-payumoney,

How we see it:

(a)Main page would be mainly informational about what were are doing but we are also considering having more info for none member so we wouldn't want to be limited to members online

(b) logging to membership website and then once they chose the trainer they login to their trainer profile

(c)One options is some content public then different packages and accessmembers would get videos, forums etc

diet plans, training programs

(d)so the basic member site has no diet plans or training programs .

(e)there will be training instruction, diet list and possible one or two more things

(f)in each trainer profile but all them profiles will look the same really.

(g)and the people who signed up to online training with their trainer they'll see some extra stuff from that trainer .

Forum :- Forum with an option to word search. Trainer would reply to people's question via the forum

Trainer:- trainers only that we chose (Admin provide user name & password)

I wouldn't even want public to see this option to become a trainer

I only need the trainers to see the list of the members.

they need to see the list of people signed up using their code number and names the people that sign up using their code (eah trainer has their own discount code)

so they need to see the list of names that are still paying monthly

Trainer Side Other feature :-

A)upload video

B)upload Diet Program

C)give Forum answers

D)upload exercise program

E)Create profile

Social media:- We will set instagram account and if there is a good way of getting more clicks and more traffic towards the website .

option click like and then it shares on facebook

Subscription page:-

<http://design.mindiii.com/tarun/dovies-fitness/subscription-packages.html>

so the black website you've sent me would be the main page then subscription with an option of a promo code (10% off) each promo code would belong to one of our trainer/influencer.

I would like a clear option to choose one of them people for packages so our existing member can choose their training at different packages once they chose the trainer they could be transferred over to a page like the one you've sent me..

a bit more personalized towards individual trainer each trainer would have their own level of subscription.

where in fact the content will be very similar but let's say there will be different pictures so they think they have access to a separate content.

so they need to cancel it any time membership pay monthly then online training as well but different rates

I don't think members site will have training or diet plan. It will be once they we might possibly add a little info about the trainer possibly training programs we will send to their emails directly so the payment system we will use can take monthly payments automatically

Feedback(rating & review):- just like review or feedback to the team

means user will not see only ADMIN will see recipes

ADMIN SIDE:-

- 1)see all the users details
- 2)add number of trainer in admin
- 3)create promotion code for trainer
- 4)see all the trainer feedback
- 5)all the users subscription plane
- 6)change content(editable)

Just one thing just had a chat with someone and the 10% code is not the best way as it's cheap so some people might not even apply for the code also the price is already cheap so we don't have to give them no offer reallyNthe better way would be that every trainer would have their personalised link that would take them to registration page and it would automatically remember that they were referred by them

We will have £.7.99 monthly options which comes with forum, training videos, instruction videos possibly recipe videos (we would like to be able to add more options as well later on)then next level up £19.99 this option would come with one week diet menu, and weeks training program (sent to their email)The emails will most likely be managed by our admin personWe are thinking about the next option being our so called Basic trainer (mid price) it would include diet revisionsthen one level up would be online training with the main trainersthe trainers might have dofferent prices and could be more individualNso we have to be able to manage those sometime and make some changes later on so hope the core psp is flexible to amend once the website is finished that's right but we would like to be able to add promotion codes as well in the future (possibly) like with the code 1 month free etc but only sometimes.

.do you want every trainer cost will be same or different for sign up to the basic subscription the same and yeah all costs will be the same unless some trainers might want to do skype videos then we will need to add an extra package price